Request To Relocate Village Of Bushkill Receives Action

Rep. Walter Says Federal Agency Will Work On Plan

Special To The Daily Record
WASHINGTON, D.C.—A Federal Government agency has committed itself to work with Rep. Francis E. Walter in the "relocation" of the community of Bushkill in Pike County, if the residents are willing to set up a model village.

The present community of Bushkill will be inundated when Tock's Island Dam and Reservoir are erected as one of the major projects in the comprehensive developments of the Delaware River.

Appeal For Help
Community leaders, hopeful of being able to establish a model community north of the reservoir site, appealed to Walter for assistance and guidance. The congressman contacted various federal agencies to lead support to the proposal. Walter last night said that the civil works director for the Corps of Engineers and the Department of Interior are "pooling their thoughts" on the Bushkill plan.

At the same time Walter said that Administrator Robert C. Weaver of the Housing and Home Finance Administration outlined a five-step proposal which Weaver "feels might be taken toward the establishment of a model village at a new site."

Five-Step Programs
Weaver told Walter that the five steps would provide the basic support elements for a relocation program. But Weaver noted that "fundamental to the process of relocating the community would be the willingness of the inhabitants to organize and to use funds which they receive from their present holdings, insofar as necessary to relocate."

The five step program outlined for Walter follows:
(1) The preparation of a development plan to serve the needs of the new community might be undertaken with the aid of an urban planning assistance grant from the Urban Renewal Administration.

Pike County Eligible
Since Pike County is eligible for federal assistance from the Area the grant could cover three-fourths of the planning cost instead of two-thirds which is the normal federal proportion.

Urban planning assistance grants for localities of under 50,000 population must be provided through state planning agencies under the statute governing the program. Therefore, the state agency would have to be the applicant for an urban planning assistance grant. A development plan would be a desirable first step toward building a model village.

Fair Reimbursement
(2) The owners of land and real properties in the present community will be reimbursed for the fair value of their present private holdings which would provide them with equity funds for land and home and business improvements at the new site.

General Strike
A general strike, launched last Monday by thousands of clerks, civil servants and teachers, has tied up business and many essential services in Georgetown. Shops have closed, and rail and river transport, and postal, telephone and dock services have halted. Electric and water supplies were back to normal Friday, however.

The strikers, protesting a controversial compulsory savings wage, a freeze on vacations and plans arbitration regulations, have vowed to continue their walkout until Jagan resigns.

The strikers have protested that if the colony gets its independence by May 31, as Jagan demands, British Guiana will become like Cuba under Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

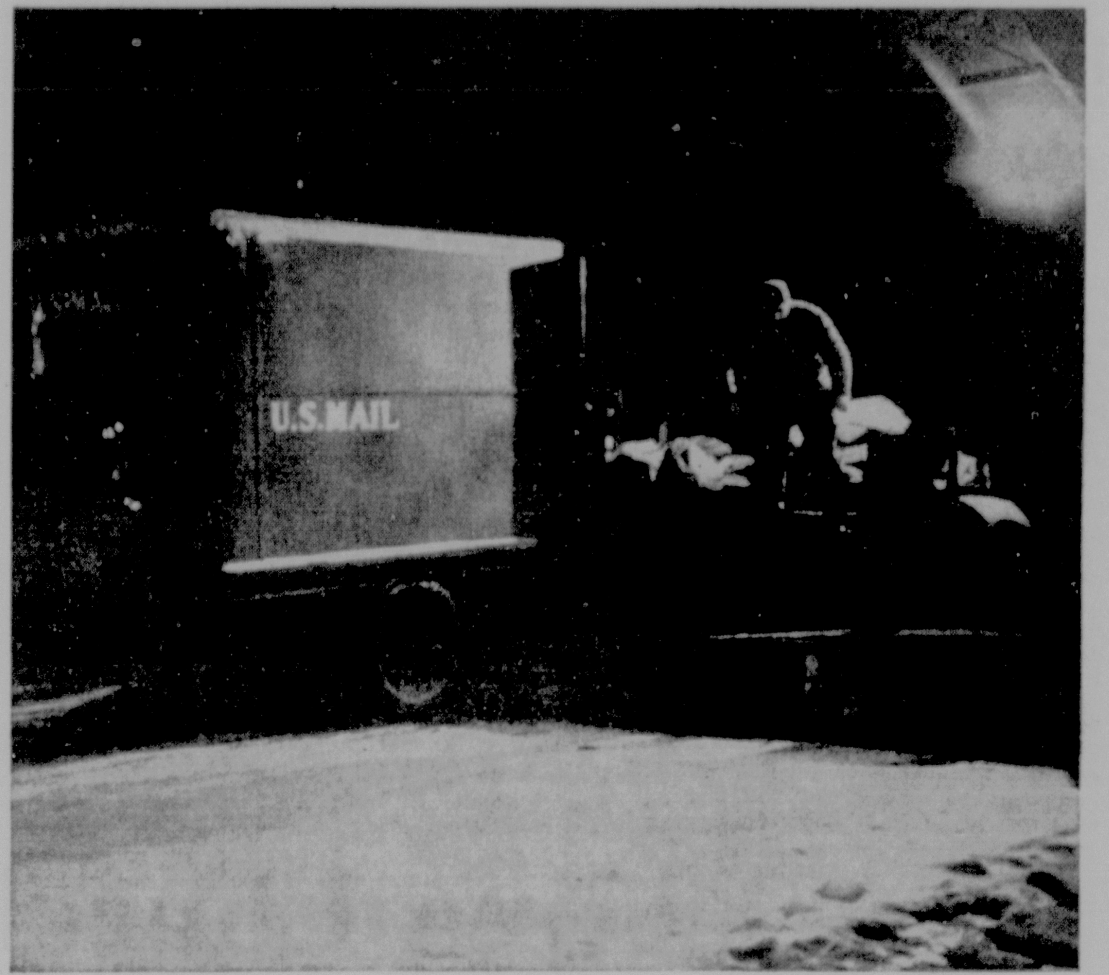

Austerity Program
The immediate cause of the strike is an austerity program which imposes compulsory savings on all monthly incomes over 20 pounds—$36—to raise an additional government budget of 6 million West Indian dollars—$3,480,000.

Jagan, a Chicago-trained dentist, is an East Indian. His wife, the former Janet Rosenberg, was a Communist in Chicago and has been influential in politics here.

the new site and can't preserve the identity of the town under state laws, the Corps of Engineers might provide necessary replacements of streets, water and sewer facilities and public buildings, designed to modern standards and in the light of development plans that are presented. The Corps of Engineers will either install the public improvements or agree to an aggregate sum payment and make pay-outs as construction advances.

FHA Mortgage
(4) Since the families would be displaced from their present homes by a public improvement action they would be eligible for Section 221 FHA-insured mortgages which could be sold by the loan originator to The National Mortgage Assn. Under its special assistance function such mortgages may be in amounts up to $12,000 and have a maturity of up to 40 years.

Displaced Businesses
(5) The displaced businesses would be eligible for displaced business disaster loans from the Small Business Administration. The current interest rate on such a loan is 3% per cent. Since Pike County is designated as a depressed area favorable loans to finance facilities that would provide employment might also be available from the Area Redevelopment Administration.

Reds Drop Activity In Air Corridors After Allied Note

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet MIGs any Soviet aircraft sighted," a Western spokesman said. His announcement came after the expiration of a three-hour period—9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.—which the Soviets had claimed for exclusive use of the Hamburg-Berlin lane at levels up to 7,500 feet.

A message from the Soviet officer in the four-power Berlin Air Safety Center gave the impression that the Soviets are calling off the whole thing, an informed source said.

On the other hand, a Soviet Embassy spokesman in East Berlin indicated the Soviets stood on their claim to be able to make block bookings of air space in each of the three 20-mile wide corridors whenever they wish.

"We will continue to request the use of the corridors in the way we have been doing as long as we feel it is necessary," he said.

The United States, Britain and France protested to Moscow Thursday against the Soviet efforts to monopolize slices of the corridors and they were reported ready to send in fighter patrols if the MIGs persisted in buzzing Western planes.

Few Hours' Notice
The Communists could turn the pressure on the corridors on and off at will. They have been giving only a few hours notice in the air safety center of their wish to keep certain air space for themselves. The rules are that each side must be handled on an individual basis.

The Western Allies called the tactics of Soviet fighters in the corridors "dangerous and reckless" and warned they would hold them responsible for air safety.

It is only by plane that people can travel to and from Berlin without submitting to Communist controls.

Not Upset
The new disappointment did not upset Glenn and the Marine lieutenant colonel shows no sign of tension, said Dr. William K. Douglas, personal physician to the astronauts.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said there was no intention of substituting another man for Glenn no matter how often the voyage was postponed.

Denies Rumors
At a news conference late Friday, Lt. Col. John A. Powers, astronaut spokesman, denied rumors of unhappiness among some of the astronauts. Specifically he denied that Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom, who took a suborbital ride of 303 miles last July 21, wants out of the Mercury program.

"Gus Grissom has not applied for relief from duty and neither have we asked him to," Powers said.

He asserted none of the astronauts was unhappy, except that some might be disappointed when a particular man was assigned a mission they coveted.

The source said the move may be made in an effort to speed toward an early settlement urged by President Kennedy.

Representatives of the 11 companies are meeting with union officials from the companies in separate conferences scattered over the city.

Storm Dumps Snow Over Pocono Area

A LOW pressure system brought about two inches of snow to the Pocono Mountains yesterday.

The storm is expected to end today with a few flurries. The long range forecast for the next five days calls for precipitation of about four-tenths of an inch falling mainly about Monday night and Tuesday.

The snow yesterday — originally predicted for early morning hours — found borough and state highway crews on the alert. There was little need for plowing, but cinderling crews were active.

In The Stroudsburgs, little difficulty resulted from the slush since cinderling and clean-up crews were dispatched immediately and made short work of the slippery mess.

A spokesman for the Monroe County office of the State Highways Dept. reported last night roads throughout the area were in wet and slushy condition.

He said the department had 82 men, 33 trucks, eight graders, seven loaders and one shovel on the job. At a late hour, they were removing slush from the roads.

Temperatures generally above the freezing range in the lower parts of the county helped minimize the severity of the storm.

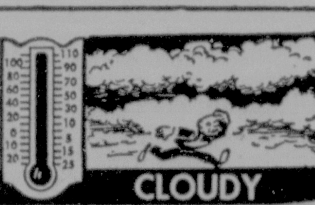

The high recorded in downtown Stroudsburg was 37 at 12:30 p.m., but the temperature remained above the freezing mark late last night.

The Weather Bureau at Scranton-Wilkes-Barre Airport at Avoca predicted an overnight low of about 18 above and high today around 30.

Trading Abroad

Those who contend that the rising standard of living in Europe, and rising pay scales to match, will help our products compete on price abroad are right, but it appears that it will take a long time for all this to work out.

The executive committee of the European Economic Community (known as the Common Market) has issued figures on average wages there and here. The average European blue-collar employee today gets $1 an hour in pay—including fringe benefits. Our workers average $2.36—plus fringe benefits.

The European worker is gaining on the American in the wage race, but very, very slowly. Since 1959, wages have risen both here and abroad. But the gap between U. S. and foreign wages has narrowed only slightly.

The main reason we haven't been frozen out of the world market entirely is that better use is made of labor in the U. S. More machines and more power are put into the hands of the American worker, so that the cost of labor in each unit of production drops somewhat. But European productivity is rising faster than European wages, because they are mechanizing and automating at a faster rate than we are.

A major part of the cost of any product is labor cost. Even the plant overhead is mostly labor cost. As Europeans catch up with us in labor-saving machinery, the competition will get stiffer.

President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisors has advocated that new wage demands be modest ones so that we won't reduce employment here by widening the cost gap between American and foreign products. The President's commission on railway work rules has been reported as favoring elimination of featherbedding now costing hundreds of millions of dollars annually—and this would help keep transportation charges down.

The Government itself must hold down its expenses and avoid inflation if these suggestions, if adopted, are not to become useless gestures. Taxes are a visible cost that raises our prices, and inflation is an invisible force for higher prices.

All Americans must meet foreign competition—not just a few leaders.

Our Landscape's 'Livability'

With cities swallowing up open land in the United States at the rate of about 3,000 acres a day, both urban and rural dwellers have to be concerned about what this process is doing to their living space. One of the most articulate voices seeking to arouse concern is that of Maurice K. Goddard, Pennsylvania's Secretary of Forests and Waters.

Speaking to the Western Pennsylvania Conservancy in Pittsburgh on Thursday, Mr. Goddard outlined a program which, if it is approved, will put Pennsylvania in the forefront of states that are trying to meet the outdoor recreational needs of a future urbanized civilization. Mr. Goddard proposes a $70 million bond issue to be used in buying land for parks and recreational areas in 36 of the state's urbanized regions. Of the total amount, $45 million would be used directly by the Department of Forests and Waters to purchase land for parks and "open space" preserves; $5 million would be used by the Game and Fish Commission to acquire important fish and wildlife areas threatened by development; and $20 million would be made available in the form of matching grants to local governing bodies aiming to establish parks. Because the bond issue would exceed the state debt limit, it would have to be voted on as a constitutional amendment.

In approving such a project, Pennsylvania would be joining other forward-looking states. California has a $150 million park development program. New York voters two years ago backed a $75 million issue for parks. New Jersey voters on November 7 will decide on a $60 million park bond issue.

Secretary Goddard has labeled his plan "Project 70" because he hopes the land acquisition will be completed by that date. With land prices in key areas rising and with vital open space being rapidly cluttered up by urban expansion, the target date is none too soon. In their own interest, the people of Pennsylvania should co-operate in what Mr. Goddard calls an effort to preserve the "livability" of our landscape.

The Poverty Of Logic

It is possible to be so logical that minus negative plus one thing comes to mean nothing against another. Mathematicians and philosophers are capable of that kind of nihilism. They can deal with a theory until they have slaughtered the practical and nothing remains for them but words which bump into each other and flash for a second and are gone in the stillness.

A friend of mine who has undoubtedly found life disappointing wonders how I can find anything to praise in a world held together by spit and molasses. What he does not understand is that I am enthusiastic that it holds together at all, man having a way of tearing everything apart as children tear paper dolls.

We could, of course, make a worse mess than we have of the world we live in but the human mind and spirit emerges and finds justification for virtue and for life.

My friend writes me: "Holding a thing together despite an absurdity does not always represent significant statesmanship. In this case it means holding together an organization which has become a peace-disturbing organization under the control of the African-Soviet bloc, which preaches and practices the holy mission of conducting wars of liberation and uses the UN as a forum for subversive propaganda against other nations."

"It is true that the UN has certain success of mediation to its credit, but the same things could have been accomplished by other devices without fostering a machine for world government which is in the hands of our enemies."

My friends finds in the UN the imperfections of an organization which lives by a majority vote, namely that the majority will often consist of the least intelligent and will express itself in unsatisfactory terminology.

That happens all the time in the United States when we are suddenly faced by some politician whose manners are undignified. We shrug our shoulders and hope for the best and it often does work out surprisingly well.

After all, none of the great statesmen of the world were trained for their jobs—not Caesar or Napoleon, although Alexander was brought to light by none other than Aristotle who wrote so wisely on how men should govern themselves.

We have done remarkably well by a hit and miss method, even in this country where George Washington was advised by Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson, extraordinary men of the title of the violence of their own opinions.

What can be said of the United Nations is that it has existed less than twenty years and has not yet fallen apart; that its members do not all pay their dues and fees; that the white nations have failed to prove their supremacy for other reasons than the existence of the United Nations; that during a period of universal revolution and continuous war we have not discovered an alternative for war other than the United Nations.

Is this perfection? Of course not! It is a strident effort by man to find a technique for living together without constant war. It would be so much easier to hold the world together in great empires, to suppress every expression of independence and to have a council of five or ten to decide all questions with unerring wisdom.

Unfortunately we sent too many black and yellow boys to school and they have read the same books that the white boys read and they wonder if certain rules of life hold for the whites, why do they not hold for them.

And they go in for biology and anthropology and all the learned disciplines and they wonder what is the essential difference between one group and another.

And suddenly they discover the meaning of physical power. At that point we must either recognize the Biblical brotherhood of man or the biological kinship of species or we are licked by the majority vote in the United Nations. My friend does not like that.

Too long, he has lived as a superior man, glorying in his production of the Greek poets, of Shakespeare, Goethe, Beethoven and Tchaikovsky and he asks the blacks and the yellows what they have contributed to civilization.

I fear that if my friend does not choose murder as his device he must try something like the United Nations because we have gone too far.

The article in the government newspapers said Mr. Vishinsky and his followers 'tried to provide legal backing for mass repressions and lawlessness . . . and helped cause the persecution of innocent people.'"

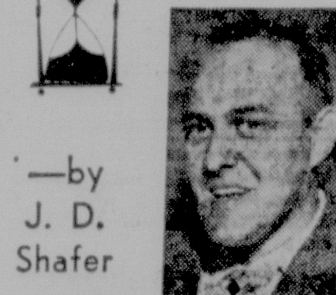

The N. Y. Herald Tribune added: "At the United Nations his performances against the West became really violent. Western 'Warmongers' were his daily target."

In 1947 he devoted a full hour (from the UN podium) attacking this reporter. He screamed: "Why don't you people do something about your No. One Warmonger—Walter Winchell? He's the one who wants war—Russia seeks peace!"

The next Sunday evening at 9 over ABC's 363 radio stations we replied: "Russia's deputy foreign minister Vishinsky has charged that the United States is seeking war and that I am a warmonger. He flatly stated that the Marshall Plan was an American attack on the nations of Europe."

lean corporations made large profits during the last war . . . From whom? . . . Certainly not from other countries or Lend-Lease wouldn't have been necessary. Your country (and a lot of others) got much of the goods that these corporations manufactured . . . But none has paid back a cent . . . Our country paid for those goods and gave them to Russia along with many others . . . Therefore the American people will have to pay the bill for the whole war . . . Over 250 billion of dollars.

"In the last two years (1945-46) those same corporations which you charge made such huge profits—paid into the U.S. Treasury over 30 billions. Part of these corporate taxes went to pay the deficit of Lend-Lease. In sum, these same corporations are making up in taxes the losses caused the U.S. Government because your country Russia hasn't paid its bills!"

Since Americans have paid, are paying and will continue to pay the entire cost of the war—how can you—with a straight face—say we want war for profit? . . . For what? So we can owe ourselves money?"

One wonders how college athletes can brush off undercover payoffs from schools and universities and shy away from the point-spreading loot of the gamblers.

Morally an athlete shouldn't think of grabbing a few bucks from the colleges let alone think of accepting money to "take a dive" in an intercollegiate event.

But we've wondered many times how a lad blessed with sports ability can escape the ever increasing pressures of football and basketball today. Especially when you see that the National Collegiate Athletic Association signed a $10.2 million contract with Columbia Broadcasting System to televise college grid games the next two years.

And if you think this figure isn't a whooper then take a look at the amount CBS will give to the National Football League for the next two seasons—$9.3 million.

The only difference in these organizations is simply professional and amateur. The NCAA is the governing body for intercollegiate athletics across the nation while the NFL is "only" pro football's great league.

How in the world are you going to keep a kid thinking in the amateur mind when he knows his "bosses" are in big business, collecting huge sums of money to see him perform on video each Saturday.

It is no wonder that betting parasites are able to sneak their way into a boy's confidence and wave big cash around after a little doubletalk that his college or university is making plenty of cash from the bruises dotting his body.

Let's make no mistake about it college athletics—football and basketball—is big business. Only recently Ohio State officials inferred that the Buckeyes should just change the name and go professional all the way.

We are in the midst of sports decay on the collegiate front. In fact it won't be long before another scandal breaks involving staid schools which hitherto "butter never melt in their mouths."

How are we going to stop the eventual professional tag being hung on the colleges? That's up to the schools themselves. However, if the NCAA would stop playing Wall Street financiers and close the door on professional tactics the word amateur might return to Webster's Collegiate dictionary.

The Drum And Bugle Corps

Editor, The Daily Record:

As publicity agent for the Stroudsburg's New Drum and Bugle Corps, I have a little something to say to our people. All I hear in town is that "Our Town" is not drum corps minded like some. Well, to my way of thinking, you people of the Stroudsburgs have a big surprise ahead of you. To see us this year, you have to come out and take a look, and listen to what talent there really is in our town. You're going to say there's our Drum Corps.

What really is the Drum and Bugle Corps? You people of the Stroudsburgs are welcome at any time at our practice nights, to see us channel the energies used to bicker, complain, criticize and dream to encourage men to play in Drum Corps. Encourage them to be good drummers, drummers that are proud of the heritage of drumming, but with enough foresight and sense to realize that tradition and heritage are all well and good, but do not necessarily win. Practice, determination, imagination, courage; these are a few things far more important to achieve the means to an end.

Confronting us today there are problems concerning Drum Corps which are far more important than the fact corps music is not traditional. If drum corps can duplicate the jazz rhythms and harmonic changes, more power to them. The big problem of proper balance of not only the drums and bugle sections; that of the horn sections themselves, is the problem which we need to solve. Reverting back to the past is not, and will never be the answer to this problem.

Each locality has its own "little world" of competition now, resulting in a greater stimulation of interest, knowledge, and appreciation of this activity.

Our Corps is open to any man or young lad who has the determination of becoming a "Keystone Grenadier" (by the way people of the Stroudsburgs, this is your new Drum and Bugle Corps name). If you lack music, we can put it in you. Believe me, it's easier than you think.

I would like to extend invitations all over Monroe County, to you fellows and young lads to join the "Keystone Grenadiers." Remember, there's room for everyone, and for you little lads, let your parents bring you down to the V.F.W. on Saturday afternoons to play with the V.F.W. Junior Drum Corps.

Until this comes about, that we all cooperate with each other, there will be people in the Stroudsburgs, who will say, "Our town is not drum corps minded."

Try and Stop Me

This story still is number one on the Alaska Anecdotal Wit Parade. A tenderfoot from Oregon appeared in a North Alaskan bar and inquired, "What does a fellow have to do to . . . ?" "Three things," the bartender informed him. "First, you have to drink a quart of whiskey at one gulp; second, you have to kiss an Eskimo; and third, you have to shoot a polar bear."

Fortwith, the tenderfoot downed a quart of whiskey, then reeled out into the arctic night. He was back in the bar two hours later, his face scratched and bleeding and his clothes in tatters. "Okay, men," he rasped, "Now where's that Eskimo I have to shoot?"

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

News not only seems to run in cycles but it also seems to pop out like messes in certain localities, and today seems to be Barrett's day. Of course Mrs. Stabler's account of the first PTA meeting 65 years ago is of more than area interest, in fact it's probably of national interest, but it was Barrett who had her.

And it's Barrett which is plugging for language in the elementary grades — and it's in Barrett that they're talking about starting a Junior League. Actually there's not much difference between a Junior Woman's Club and a Junior League, outside of national affiliations, but it sounds so elegant.

As a matter of fact, we are getting more elegant — roses in our ice, silvered almonds with our green beans, more world travelers taking off for more far-flung places, more people going to New York for plays more often, entertaining a little more sophisticated, a little more formal.

Not more formal than in the 1920's probably when Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer was entertaining at garden parties, and Mrs. W. B. Easton opened her home for the Junior Woman's Clubs dances, when no lady was seen downtown without hat and gloves, and meetings started at 8 in the afternoon because everybody had a maid to wait dinner.

But a lot more formal than in the depression and war years when, busy or broke and sometimes both, the sewing circle and the bridge club was about the limit for entertaining.

But speaking of entertaining, things had sort of bogged down after the holidays and the Rumsey wedding with so many people taking off for Florida, but now Oriole Nitrauer who had been visiting her parents in Kissimmee since mid December is home again and like a happy harbinger of spring is inspiring a new round of parties.

The only trouble is that in contrast to her tan, the rest of us look as if we'd been spending the winter in or under the flour barrel. And after admiring the new Spring pastels now appearing in new knits, I feel as if my flour barrel must have had moths in it.

Jr. League Is Proposed For Barrett

Barrett — The newly formed Barrett Junior League has extended an invitation to young women in the community interested in civic improvement and social activity to join them at their first meeting Thursday night, 8 p.m.

The meeting will serve to introduce new members to the plans made in relation to co-sponsorship of a second production of the "Wedding Gown Revue." The Barrett Elementary PTA and the Barrett Junior League are arranging to hold the revue again to enable those who missed the first production to attend the second.

The Barrett Junior League will meet the first Thursday of each month at the Barrett Branch YMCA at 8 p.m. Women in the community over 15 years of age and under 35 are eligible for membership. Interested women seeking further information may call Mrs. Denise Bender, LY 5-7653; Mrs. Jane Williams, LY 5-7324 or Mrs. Jane Bruch, LY 5-2488.

Nevil-Calvin

Michael F. Nevil and Kim Victoria Calvin, both of Stroudsburg, RD 3, applied for a marriage license yesterday from N. Henry Fenner, Monroe County clerk of orphans' court.

Sprinkle biscuits you are baking with paprika for a rosy touch. Ever saute chicken livers with onions and serve with scrambled eggs? Nice for lunch or Sunday night supper.

Know how to remove gum from fabric? Rub the gum with ice to harden it and then scrape it off with a dull knife. Be careful not to injure the fabric as you scrape. As a last step, use a dry-cleaner on the spot.

Barrett PTA Honors Woman Present For Founding Of PTA At Founders Day

Barrett— Mrs. Ida Palmer Stabler, Buck Hill Falls, was the guest of honor at the Barrett Elementary Parent-Teachers Assn. 65th anniversary celebration this week. Mrs. Stabler was one of the women who attended the first meeting of the parent organization of the National PTA, then known as "The Mother's Congress" on Feb. 18, 1897.

A report of that original meeting, prepared by Mrs. Stabler, was read by her daughter, Cornelia Stabler Gilliam, at the meeting excerpts from which are carried in a separate story. Mrs. Wilson Huffman, president of the PTA, presented Mrs. Stabler with a corsage in PTA colors: yellow chrysanthemums with blue ribbons.

Similar corsages were presented to the women of the faculty with boutonnieres presented to the men of the faculty. Past presidents of the Barrett and Paradise PTAs, Mrs. E.O. Headrick and Herbert Larsen were presented with loving cups.

At the business meeting plans were made for a tea, featuring a reading by Madelyn Maloney the week of April 7 with Mrs. John O'Neill in charge of arrangements.

Seek Foreign Language

"Ten minutes a day of a foreign language would outweigh the value of an hour a week, Mrs. W.A. Anderson, teacher at the East Stroudsburg Laboratory School told the PTA in discussing the teaching of foreign language on the elementary level.

Mrs. Anderson had been invited by Mrs. Joan Montgomery and Mrs. Donna Stack to discuss the advisability of arranging weekly foreign language lessons at the Barrett Elementary Center. With this advice in mind, the administration will recommend that elementary teachers with a language background be considered when additional teachers are needed.

County Vocational School?

The state proposal for the reorganization of school districts was discussed by Walter Melnickoff, president of the Monroe Council of the PTA. The county council was interested in the possibility of having a vocational high school in the county which the bill passed early in the year united school districts to set up.

He also announced that the annual College Night, sponsored by the County PTA, was being expanded to become a Career Night for high school students who do not plan to go to college. The next County Council meeting will be held March 29 at the Pleasant Valley School with Mrs. Daniels of District 7 as the speaker.

A surprise highlight of the meeting was a skit presented by members emphasizing how home, school, church and community are cornerstones for the development of young people. Representing "home" was Mrs. David Tomis; school, Robert Wolbert; church, Rev. John O'Neill; and community, Robert Wilson. Mrs. Lloyd LaBar served as moderator.

On display were two record players, the gifts of the PTA, for which Lloyd Peak expressed the appreciation of the school. Mrs. Jurgens third grade received the attendance banner which will be placed in the classroom treasury.

At the social hour in the school cafeteria, birthday cakes in spring colors were served from a table decorated with iris and chrysanthemums. Party favors made by the third grade were distributed to members.

Mrs. Stabler also summarized the resolutions passed at this first conference, many of them embodied in today's organization.

Mrs. Stabler also attended the conferences of 1902 and 1908. It was in the latter conference that the name National Congress of Mothers and Teachers Assn. was adopted, and in 1924 the Parents and Teachers, her report pointed out.

Garden Club Arrangements Follow Film

Members of the Monroe County Garden Club provided their own demonstration of flower arrangements at the meeting on Thursday at the YMCA when Mrs. E. Harrison Taylor of Evans the Florist presented a 45-minute colored film on the fundamentals of designing with flowers.

How the local members used those fundamentals was demonstrated in their displays, described by Mrs. Bernard Peters, arrangement chairman. Mrs. A. Starr Phelps had three arrangements, the first an equilateral triangle with dried material in an antique mortar container; the second tinted honesty with arbor vitae and artemisia in a right angle with matching vase; and the third an arrangement of natural and gilded dried material in a wooden container.

Mrs. Bernard Peters had an arrangement of honesty, woodroose and fern gilded while Mrs. Frank Stackhouse used driftwood with philo dendron. Mrs. Harold Lanterman had a Valentine arrangement with cupid and broken hearts against a background of dried and gilded lilies and iris, and a begonia plant.

Mrs. Ernest Schwartz brought in forced Japanese quince in an antique heart container.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Edgar Van Why, president, urged members to participate in the Wyckoff Flower Arrangement contest.

The sympathy of the club was extended to Mrs. Carl Wagner on the death of her father, to Mrs. William Howell on the death of her brother and to Mrs. William Spangler on the death of her mother.

Mrs. Paul Fetherman gave the report of the auditing committee.

The tea table was decorated with red hearts, red and white carnations and white mums with greens and red carnations by the hostesses: Mrs. Ray Arnold, Mrs. Charles Buzell, Mrs. Ethel Quick, Mrs. Lewis Vokert, Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, Mrs. Paul Feller, Mrs. Otoo Paulson and Mrs. Mary Ann Mitchellfelder pouring.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

I do wish I were not the worrying kind... that I were more inclined to believe "Whatever will be will be. But the fact remains, that when I awoke Wednesday morning to a gloowering sky, freezing mist, and roads covered with snow, my heart despaired for the success of Barrett's Wedding Gown Revue. It was a shame, I thought, that all the hard work the PTA women, under direction of Mrs. John O'Neill, chairman, and Mrs. Mable Huffman, president, should end in failure.

At 9:45 a.m. when committees and officers held firmly to a policy of "the show must go on," I admired their courage (which, to be frank about it, far exceeded my own) and hoped they would not be too disappointed as they paraded before an empty house. Then the sun came out... the roads cleared... and when some of us arrived at the school at 7 o'clock, men, women, and children were already lined up to buy tickets. Almost 300 tickets were sold at the door... just imagine! From where I stood near the runway I noticed standees, both at the back of the room and peering through the doors from the hall... but I supposed they were standing to get a better view. Until Thursday, when Betty Noack, who had been there from Stroudsburg with a party of five, and Al Driesen's wife (one of the models) enlightened me, I hadn't known that the SRO sign was up simply because every seat was occupied.

The models were wonderful... so were the members of the committee... and so were all the other Barrett residents whom I met through working on the show. I honestly have never seen so many exceptionally fine looking women gathered together in such elegant apparel at one time, for there were more than 50 models, to say nothing of "Mothers" of the Bride presiding at the reception, and assorted assistants. Do you know, I not only came away with an adorable Valentine apron someone had sewn for me... a beautiful corsage of sweetheart roses, made by Barrett's own Reese the Florist... plus having had a delicious dinner at Buck Hill Inn. I even came away with knowledge of three charming lady relatives I'd known nothing about until they introduced themselves.

From the music—by Jean and Bob Wolbert, Rev. O'Neill and Kathleen Williams, all of whom were accompanied by Marie LaBar, who furnished a delightful organ background for the entire show—to the relatives, it was a happy evening for me. And for the audience too, it seems, for an invitation to repeat the show here in Stroudsburg came just as I was about to toss my used commentary into the waste basket in Mrs. Henry Jurgens' classroom. What a calamity THAT would have been!

That was the opinion voiced by "Papa" Wyckoff in a meeting with Arthur Widmer, Peter Wyckoff and me a few days ago. Mr. Wyckoff recalled fondly the days gone by when there were Community Hymn Sings at the Sherman Theatre on Sunday afternoons, with all the churches... Protestant, Jewish, and Catholic... wholeheartedly participating. "You can sing a lot of religion into your sole," Mr. Wyckoff philosophized... and no one can challenge the truth of that.

Wonder when YOU sang last? Listening to the vocalists at the Wedding Gown Revue, my eyes filled with tears on several occasions when the music and the sentiment suddenly became just to beautiful and emotional to be endured. What would a wedding be without music? What would a high school assembly be without it—or even the human heart that lacks the ability to appreciate music? Pretty dreary, if you ask me.

We should all sing often for the sheer joy of it, whether or not we can carry a tune. We should sing together... mothers should sing to their babies... and we should sing to ourselves in the shower. One of the best incentives for public or private, multi-or-individual warbling would be a purchase of Fred Waring's excellent song book. It's the best blues chaser we've ever seen for just 1.50.

THE PROOF OF PRAYER

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	11	17-27
Monday	John	11	38-44
Tuesday	Acts	9	36-41
Wednesday	Romans	10	5-13
Thursday	Hebrews	11	1-7
Friday	Psalms	121	1-8
Saturday	Psalms	4	1-8

Ask—and it shall be given you. Seek—and ye shall find.
Knock—and it shall be opened unto you.

The promise of Jesus is all the proof a child asks. But, knowing that we grownups are often more inclined to skepticism than faith, Christ continues:

What man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone — or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent?

And while the multitude pondered the implication of these challenges, the Lord offered his conclusion . . . so simple as to appear obvious . . . so profound as to convince all but an atheist:

If ye, then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children — how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask Him!

But His real proof you'll find in the experience of prayer . . . in your church . . . in your home . . . in the sacred quiet moments of every day.

Beatty Wins Baxter Mile Before 14,000 In 4:00.9

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Jim Beatty, the world's first sub-four-minute indoor miler, won the Baxter Mile in the New York Athletic Club Games Friday in 4:00.9 before a screaming crowd of 14,000 in Madison Square Garden.

Just last Saturday Beatty broke the indoor four-minute mile barrier with a 3:58.9 clocking at Los Angeles.

This time, though, the 5-foot-6 University of North Carolina graduate had to share the spotlight with big Gary Gubner of New York University who twice broke his two-week-old indoor shotput record with heaves of 64-10 1/4 and 64-11 1/4.

Big Assist
Beatty got a big assist from Tom O'Hara, a comparative unknown from Loyola of Chicago, who dogged his steps right down to the final lap while the other veterans in the race were falling back.

Beatty took over the lead after two laps and stayed there all the way. His quarter times were 59 flat, 2:00 and 3:01.5.

O'Hara finished second in 4:02.3, while John Reilly of Georgetown was third in 4:07.1.

While Beatty's clocking was a full two seconds off his record, he beat Ron Delany's listed indoor mark of 4:01.4 for the second straight week.

Gubner's 64-11 1/4 toss came on his final throw just as the crowd was settling for the New York Athletic Club Games in Madison Square Garden.

A 19-year-old sophomore, Gubner had a fantastic series of throws—61-7 1/4, 64-10 1/4, 62-2, 64-4, foul, 64-11 1/4.

Just two weeks ago in the Millrose Games here, Gubner, a 255-pounder, set an indoor mark of 63-10 1/4.

Good Progress
Gubner, who shot into prominence less than a year ago and has progressed in startling fashion, now needs only to break Bill Nieder's 65-10 world outdoor record to become the greatest shot-putter in history.

Last week, in the Los Angeles Times Games, Gubner got off a toss of 66-2, but it was a foul. He settled for 63-8.

Nieder, who has a bad knee, quit the shotput game last year. Gubner's toss, of course, erased the meet record of ex-world shotput king Parry O'Brien. That was 61-5 1/2 set in 1958. O'Brien had to scratch from Friday night's meet because of a hand injury.

Frank Budd of Villanova posted in the 60-yard dash, covering the distance in 6.1 seconds to equal the meet record.

SQUEEZE IN A SCRAMBLE—Two East Stroudsburg High players scramble for a loose ball as a Nazareth man attempts to gain control. The action came last night at the Cavalier gym as Nazareth registered a 63-52 victory. Identifiable players waiting to resume action are Jim Steele (54) East Stroudsburg and David Schultz of Nazareth. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Cavaliers Lose To Eagles 63-52

THE Nazareth Blue Eagles, backed all the way by star Bob Freeman, racked up their eighth win last night in Lehigh-Northampton League as they downed East Stroudsburg High 63-52.

East Stroudsburg, 2 and 8 in league competition, has overall record of 5 and 11. It will end its season tonight in interborough contest against Stroud Union.

Nazareth ran its overall total to 13 and 7.

The winners (8 and 2 in loop action) got off to a fast start and at one time held a 23-point edge.

However, the Cavaliers managed to provide better protection against Freeman and the contest narrowed down in the last period.

Freeman piled up 27 points on nine field goals and nine fouls. He gained 14 points in the first period as Nazareth took a 16-9 lead.

Man-To-Man
Coach Doug Schoonover then began a man-to-man defense and Harold Kimball held the Nazareth star. Freeman was restricted to five points in the second, 3 in the third and five in the last frame.

Cavalier senior Glenn Kane, was second highest scorer of the night, as he rallied for 23 points. He combined nine field goals and five fouls to reach the total.

Jack Van Horn collected 9 points and Earl Palmer 8 in the fray.

The Cavaliers had their best action of the evening in the last period. The visitors had taken the best lead of the night — 23 points — but the Cavaliers whittled it down consistently. However, they could not overtake the Eagles as the contest ran out.

The Cavalier junior varsity squad lost 43 to 35 to the Nazareth jv's.

No Introduction
Dennis and Ray will not have to be introduced at Madison Square Garden. They met professionally last Oct. 21, Robinson winning a unanimous but close verdict.

The 10-round bout will be on network (ABC) television, starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Two judges and a referee will score the match by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case the rounds are even. Robinson is a 2-1 favorite.

Since winning the decision over Moyer, Robinson stopped Al Hauser Nov. 20 and Willie Greaves Dec. 8. That ran his record to 147-93 with one no-contest bout. He has knocked out 95 opponents.

Robinson still talks about winning the middleweight title again. That would make it six times. He won it first in 1951.

Moyer fought for the welter crown when he was only 19, losing a decision to Don Jordan July 10, 1959. He has a 30-5 record with eight knockouts and never has been stopped.
